

Working with the Grower Since 1947

Charles J. Griffin, a man who recognized a need within the horticultural industry and was driven to fulfill it, founded Griffin Greenhouse & Nursery Supplies, Inc in 1947.

In addition to delivering supplies to the growers of New England, Mr. Griffin was committed to helping them produce the best crop possible by providing technical information.

To complement our complete line of greenhouse structures and nursery supplies, we offer the unique and combined talents of a nursery specialist, an irrigation design team and a construction department, supported by our professional staff.

Our dependable deliveries, which are representative of the best names in the industry, are a direct result of having kept pace with our growth over the past 50+ years.

While you are looking for just the right mix of supplies, plant materials, or making decisions about a greenhouse structure, we hope you will keep Griffin Greenhouse & Nursery Supplies at the top of your list.

Technical Support

Whether it is our seminars with nationally known speakers, technical bulletins, or our grower friendly publication, the Griffin Gazette, growers have solutions to problems right at their fingertips. Support is offered via several media; printed publications, website assistance, seminar settings, and one on one consultations. Griffin's technical support department's expertise spans topics from insect and disease control, plant growth regulation, and crop nutrition and scheduling to any technical aspect of greenhouse and nursery production.
