

Make 2015 Your Best Year Yet

with Help from GGSPRO Resources

December 2014

Growers have access to more information than ever, but it can be difficult to whittle everything down to just what you need, when you need it. As you look forward to the coming production season, now is a perfect time to collect key culture and product information from informed and accurate sources, and to organize the information so you can quickly find what you need.

This is also a great time to evaluate the needs of your production team. Do you have any new growers who could use an educational boost? Can you support team members who want to expand their knowledge and skills?

Do you have any new growers who could use an educational boost? GGSPRO can help you build your library with a number of products available for purchase that can put our team on your wall or on your desk.

As a customer of Griffin Greenhouse Supplies, chances are good that you already rely on information from the GGSPRO technical team. Monthly tech tips, Gazette articles, new product bulletins and more provide a wealth of helpful information. The team also readily shares its knowledge to address more personalized needs via e-mail and phone support. GGSPRO can help you build your on-site information library as well, with a number of products available for purchase that can put the GGSPRO team on your wall or on your desk.

To provide a quick reference for product use, we offer technical posters that include all the information you need when you're actually mixing stock solutions and spray tanks. Our insect and disease posters include a full list of plant-protection products and related information, including active ingredients, GGSPRO rate recommendations, EPA numbers, MOAs, REIs and bee-safety codes. Our herbicide and weed posters present the same types of product information and include a chart detailing which products control which weeds.

For more in-depth learning for your production staff, we offer a collection of videos on DVD or for online viewing. Subject matter ranges from crop-specific production (e.g., mums, poinsettias) to plant protection (disease and insect control) to nutrition and sanitation. Special package rates provide full online access to the entire library.

Our most popular reference product is our GGSPRO Technical Reference Guide. The Tech Guide is the go-to resource for growers of all abilities, new or seasoned. The current, third edition expands upon previous editions to include sections on insects, disease, weeds, PGRs, BCAs and nutrition. With more pictures and details than ever, the Tech Guide is a perfect resource for diagnosis and treatment plans.

As you prepare for the coming season, remember to have the best information on hand. GGSPRO technical products are a great place to start.

With best wishes for spectacular crops in 2015, The GGSPRO Technical Team
